

Breastfeeding Support Services

- Emerson Hospital's Birthing Center offers comprehensive educational and support services to help mothers acquire the art and skills of breastfeeding their new baby.
- All of Emerson's maternity nurses have many years of experience helping mothers and babies learn to breastfeed successfully.
- After discharge, breastfeeding support is available with a certified lactation consultant by phone or by scheduling an outpatient visit. Some insurances cover these visits.
- A little bit of help in the beginning can go a long way to make your breastfeeding experience comfortable and rewarding.
- Many mothers feel that the breastfeeding relationship they share with their baby is a special and meaningful part of motherhood.
- Call 978-287-3317 to speak with the lactation consultant about your individual situation.
